yTimer is a software application designed to schedule tasks when it comes to launching programs and triggering sound alerts. It comes packed with many handy options that should meet the requirements of most users. Portability advantages Since there is no setup pack involved, you can extract the program files to any part of the hard disk and just click the executable to run. There is also the possibility to save yTimer to a USB flash disk or similar storage unit, in order to run it on any PC with minimum effort and no previous installers. An important aspect worth taking into account is that the Windows registry and Start menu do not receive new entries, and no extra files are created on the disk, leaving it clean after removal. Clear-cut interface and options The GUI is represented by a regular window with a plain and simple structure, where you can create a new task by entering a few details. These include the job description, timer mode (countdown or specific time), timer repeat and sound alert. Personalize the timer via various settings. It is also possible to display an alert that stays on top of other programs, run another previously made timer, launch a file, as well as run preset timers. While they are still running, you can pause or delete them. Entries may be duplicated, while the alarm volume can be tested. Evaluation and conclusion CPU and RAM consumption was low during our evaluation, and yTimer did not hang, crash or pop up error messages. It has a good response time and works smoothly. The Flamingo is the latest in a line of killer Nokia phones and it is sure to be a huge hit. It is the perfect mix of high-end hardware and Nokia's killer apps and design. The Flamingo sports a 3.5-inch touchscreen, an 8.1 megapixel camera and video calling, a 2.1 megapixel camera on the back, a 3.2 megapixel camera on the front and an excellent 4G data connection. The Flamingo has a 5.0 megapixel rear-facing camera, a VGA front-facing camera, a 3.5mm headphone jack and a 3.5mm stereo jack. This is great hardware for a phone that is going to be made by Nokia and they just couldn't do it any better. The phone looks amazing, and the colors are really stunning. It looks and feels like an iPhone. It is Nokia's first phone with a 1.3-megapixel camera sensor, allowing you to make video calls and take still images in low light. The phone has an amazingly slim case, but it feels good in the hand. It is lightweight and feels comfortable. The screen is a big improvement over its predecessor. It is bright, has great viewing angles and is extremely easy to see. It is perfect for watching movies and watching your favorite games. And when you are done playing, it is really easy to switch to the camera, which is also really good. The 4G network will enable the user to download and upload files faster, and the number of bars on the screen lets you know how strong the signal is. The screen is sharp and clear and the call quality is really good. This is the perfect phone for those who are serious about mobile video and image taking. There are other phones on the market that are easier to use, but the Nokia Flamingo is just way better. The Flamingo uses a powerful new platform from Symbian. The Flamingo is the perfect mix of high-end hardware and Nokia's killer apps and design. Hands on Review: Titanium is a really great phone from HTC. It has everything one would want in a high-end Android phone. In addition to the good hardware, the phone comes with loads of custom software, including the HTC Sense interface, BlinkFeed, Zoe, Docs to Go, Music, Messaging, Music and Video. The HTC Sense UI is a great operating system in its own right

What's New in the YTimer Portable?

Schedule tasks when it comes to launching programs and triggering sound alerts. Key Features: Create multiple tasks based on the timer interval. Set the timer mode (countdown or specific time). Insert your favorite sound alert. Display the tasks on the taskbar and always on top. Customize the timer: Start new tasks, pause current tasks and run preset timers. Run another timer. Dear sir, I need to make a countdown timer and what ever time is left I want it to sound a mp3 file. I have no idea about coding and I am a beginner. I am not much of a coder either. I just need someone to help me out. I want to make a program which shows time left on countdown timers. Example, a full minute left, then 30 seconds, then 10 seconds, then 5 seconds, then 1 second, then .1 second, etc. I also want it to play a sound when time is left. Hello, I am looking for someone to make a script to act as a personal alarm. The alarm will be set to go off in the next few minutes. If the alarm goes off, the user will have the ability to either snooze the alarm for another few minutes, or cancel the alarm entirely. The user will also be able to choose the date and time the alarm will go off. Ideally, the alarm would also alert an individual (or others) to the fact that the alarm has been set. The person who receives the alert may be able to override the alarm, or silence it. If a cancellation is sent, the timer should begin running again. Upon cancellation or snooze, the user should be notified. More detailed explanation will be provided to the winner. Thank you. I need an app to make a countdown timer. It needs to be a countdown timer, where you can set the countdown to a specific time. A. Ex: 1. The app is launched 2. It goes through different countdown frames 3. You can choose the frame 4. You click next 5. The countdown timer starts 6. You can choose to restart the countdown or do a manual end 7. If the countdown ends, you get a notification 8. If you click the notification, you can choose to ignore or cancel it 9. On cancel, the app goes back to the countdown frame 10. If you restart, it starts again from frame #3 11. At the end, a summary of the countdown is given. 12. You can enter any countdown number and the details will be printed 13. To end a manual countdown, you can click on "Next" or "Previous" 14. When you are done, you can click on "Cancel" to exit the app You can also start the countdown
